

Department of Anthropology and Sociology

Graduation research summaries for the academic year 2024-2025

Supervisor's name	Research title	Research summary
1-Dr. Bashir Nazir Hamid Sharqi	Consumer Culture in Contemporary Societies: A Field Study in Baghdad	The research examines the phenomenon of consumer culture and its impact on modern societies, with a field study in Baghdad that illustrates the increasing patterns of consumption and their economic and social factors. The research also discusses the impact of this culture on family balance and the national economy, and the importance of awareness-raising to curb excessive consumption..
2-Dr. Jaafar Najm Nasr Marhej	Students' attitudes towards marriage: a field study at Al-Mustansiriya University	The study explores students' attitudes toward marriage, examining the social and cultural factors that influence their orientations, as well as analyzing gender differences and the role of the family in shaping these attitudes. It also discusses students' expectations of marriage and the future of marital relationships in light of modern changes..
	Daily Life of Seminary Students - An Anthropological Study in Najaf	The research examines the daily life patterns of seminary students in Najaf, focusing on the cultural and social aspects that shape their educational and religious experience, and the role of this environment in shaping their identity.
3-D. Mazen Mursoul Muhammad Lukhan	Unemployment among graduates and its repercussions on their lives and society	This research examines the phenomenon of unemployment among university graduates and its impact on their personal and social lives. It also examines the repercussions of unemployment on society through increased poverty and crime, and offers recommendations for career support programs and government policies to reduce unemployment and enhance job opportunities..

	Smoking among female university students: a field study at Al-Mustansiriya University	This study examines the phenomenon of smoking among female university students, its social and psychological causes, and its health and social impacts. It also examines female students' awareness of the dangers of smoking and the role of awareness in reducing this phenomenon. It also proposes health policies and support programs to promote healthy behaviors..
	The elderly and changing perceptions of them in Iraqi society: a field study	This study examines the changing societal perception of older adults in Iraq, analyzing the social and economic factors that have influenced this perception. It also reviews the challenges facing older adults in terms of healthcare and social support, and proposes mechanisms to enhance respect and appreciation for older adults in society..
4-Dr. Shaker Saeed Yassin Ali	Reference groups and their role in shaping the child's personality	The study examines the influence of reference groups, such as family, school, and friends, on shaping a child's personality. It also discusses how these groups influence social values and behaviors, emphasizing the importance of proper socialization in building a balanced personality capable of coping with the demands of society..
	University and social change	The research examines the role of the university as an educational and social institution in driving societal change by preparing a conscious generation capable of facing challenges. It also discusses how the university environment influences students' social values and behaviors, as well as the role of universities in promoting community engagement and sustainable development..
5-Dr. Dhikra Jamil Muhammad Hussein Taha	Drug abuse: causes and solutions. A field study at Al-Mustansiriya	The study sheds light on the causes of drug abuse among university students from psychological and social perspectives, and analyzes the factors leading to this phenomenon, such as psychological stress and social influences. The study also offers

	University.	practical solutions and recommendations to reduce drug abuse through awareness and psychological support programs within universities..
6-Dr. Mishhan Zaid Muhammad Hussein	The Impact of Social Media on University Students - A Field Study	This study examines the impact of social media on students, from a psychological, social, and behavioral perspective. It also highlights the impact of these sites on academic performance and social interaction, while reviewing the opportunities and risks students face as a result of their extensive use of these platforms..
	The role of state institutions in caring for the elderly: a field study in a nursing home in Baghdad	The study explores the role of state institutions in providing care and services to the elderly, analyzing the efficiency of these institutions and the extent to which they meet the needs of the elderly. It also discusses the challenges facing social care for the elderly and offers recommendations for improving government policies and programs to support this important group..
7-Dr. Ali Zidane Khalaf Muhammad	Food culture in a local community: an anthropological study in the city of Baghdad	The research explores food culture in the local community of Baghdad through an anthropological study, focusing on eating habits, rituals associated with food, and the impact of social transformations on eating patterns. It also discusses the importance of food in strengthening social bonds and traditions..
	Commercial Advertising - An Anthropological Study of Branding	The research examines the role of advertising in shaping the image of brands and their impact on consumer behavior in the local community, while analyzing the cultural messages directed at consumers and the importance of the brand as part of cultural identity..
8-D. ghani Nasir Hussein Bazul	The role of middle school in promoting volunteer work	The study focuses on the role of middle schools in motivating students to engage in volunteer work as a means of developing social skills and community responsibility. It also discusses the

	among middle school students	impact of volunteer work on character building and fostering a spirit of cooperation among students, and proposes strategies for integrating volunteer work into school curricula..
	The Role of the University in Confronting Intellectual Extremism Among Students - A Field Study	The study focuses on universities' efforts to combat intellectual extremism among students through educational curricula and cultural activities. It also discusses the impact of academic and social programs in promoting moderate thought and tolerance, and calls for expanding these efforts to more effectively combat extremism..
9-Dr. Yas Khader Abbas Mohsen	Cultural characteristics of female leadership in the local community - an anthropological study in Baghdad	This research examines the cultural characteristics that characterize women's leadership in the local community, highlighting the values and traditions that influence women's roles and the challenges they face in leadership positions. It also examines how leadership interacts with the surrounding social environment..
	Incubators of Drug Addiction and its Social Repellents - An Anthropological Study at Al-Ataa Hospital	The study examines the environment of drug addiction in Al-Ata Hospital in Baghdad, focusing on the social factors that contribute to the continuation of addiction and its repercussions, such as social stigma and isolation. The study also proposes ways of social intervention to reduce this phenomenon..
10-Dr. Nidal Issa Krif Zaher	Death and Funeral Rituals / A Field Study in the City of Al-Shaab	This research examines funeral rituals and their cultural and social impact in the city of Al-Shaab, analyzing how these rituals reflect societal values and beliefs about death and life after death. It also discusses the role of these rituals in promoting social cohesion and coping with grief and loss..
	Cultural Transformations in Wife Selection	The study analyzes the cultural and social changes that have affected the criteria for choosing a wife in Sadr City, examining the impact of economic Criteria: A Field Study in Sadr City	and educational changes. It also discusses the impact of these transformations on family decisions and social relations, highlighting the role of modern values versus traditional values..

	Social Media Use and Its Impact on Youth Values - A Field Study	The research examines the impact of social media use on values.
11-D. Ahlam Muhammad Shaway Ghadeer	Technology and University Education: A Field Study at Al-Mustansiriya University	The research examines the impact of modern technology on the educational process at the university, analyzing how it can be used to develop teaching methods and improve the quality of education. It also reviews the challenges facing the integration of technology into education and how to address them to ensure optimal academic outcomes..
	Delayed Marriage: Causes and Effects - A Field Study in Sadr City	The research addresses the reasons for late marriage and its effects on individuals and society, with a focus on economic and social factors..
12- Dr. Awatif Ali Khreisan Hamam	Social Media and E-Marketing - A Field Study	The research highlights the role of social media as an effective marketing tool, with a field study at Al-Mustansiriya University demonstrating how these tools are used in e-marketing. The research also discusses the impact of digital marketing on consumer behavior and the opportunities it presents for small and medium-sized enterprises..
	Globalization and the Social Challenges of Women: A Field Study at Al-Mustansiriya University	The study discusses the impact of globalization on the status of women in society, focusing on the social challenges they face in light of economic and cultural changes. It also examines the impact of globalization on women's roles in the family and the labor market..

	Divorce of minors: a field study in the city of Baghdad	This study examines the phenomenon of underage divorce in Baghdad, analyzing its causes, such as poverty and social pressure. It also reviews the psychological and social impacts on underage girls and their children, and proposes preventative measures and legislation to protect this group and improve their family and social status..
	Slums and Urban Development Challenges - A Field Study in the Rusafa District	It examines the phenomenon of slums and the challenges facing urban development in the Rusafa area, while studying the reality of services and infrastructure..
13-Dr. Aqeel Abdul Jali Jabr	Academic education and practical skills required in the labor market	The study examines the gap between academic education and the practical skills required in the labor market, and analyzes the reasons for this mismatch. It also proposes developing curricula to include applied skills that meet market needs and enhance graduates' employment opportunities..
	The Impact of Artificial Intelligence on Education: A Field Study at Al-Mustansiriya University	The research explores the impact of artificial intelligence on education, through a field study that demonstrates how artificial intelligence can improve teaching and learning methods, increase interaction between students and educational material, and analyze the challenges and opportunities offered by this new field..
	The social environment and the roots of intellectual extremism in Iraqi society	The study analyzes the social factors that lead to the emergence of intellectual extremism in Iraqi society, such as poverty, ignorance, and discrimination. It also discusses the role of the family and education in preventing extremism and proposes multidimensional policies to promote moderate thought and tolerance among members of society..
	The concept of time and its practical	The research explores the concept of time and its importance in daily life, while analyzing its cultural and social connotations.Iraqi society

	implications in current Iraqi society
14-Dr. Saad Mohammed Ali Hamid Joda	Social media and its role in shaping public opinion on the Palestinian issue	The study examines how social media platforms are used to shape and guide public opinion on the Palestinian issue, through analyzing media campaigns and their impact on political and social attitudes. It also discusses the role of youth in expressing their opinions on these platforms and the impact this has on popular solidarity..
	Iraqis' attitudes towards underage marriage in the Personal Status Law	The research analyzes Iraqi society's attitudes toward underage marriage within the framework of personal status law and its social repercussions..
15-Dr. Yahya Khairallah Awda Kaban	Electronic Begging: An Anthropological Study in Baghdad	This study sheds light on the phenomenon of online begging in Baghdad from an anthropological perspective, analyzing the causes of the spread of online begging, its social and economic impacts, and methods for dealing with it. It also discusses the impact of technology on traditional begging patterns..
	Sports Cafes - An Anthropological Study in Sadr City	The research examines the role of sports cafes in Sadr City as social centers that bring together sports fans, while studying the rituals and behaviors that occur there and their impact on social communication and identity building. Collective
17-Dr. Muhammad Jamil Ahmad Daei	University Friendship: An Anthropological Study in the University Environment	This study examines the nature of friendship among university students from an anthropological perspective, focusing on the construction of social relationships, the roles friendships play in university life, and their impact on academic performance and personal growth. It also discusses changes in friendship patterns over time..

	The clan between tradition and civilization - an anthropological study in the city of Baghdad	The research analyzes the changes that occurred in the tribal system in Baghdad in light of urbanization, with a focus on how the tribe interacts with modern values and traditions, and the role of the tribe in maintaining social ties in urban communities..
18-Dr. Susan Mohamed Farag Ahmed	The Social Effects of Divorce: A Field Study in Baghdad	The research analyzes the social impacts of divorce on family members and society, with a field study demonstrating the impact of divorce on children and family relationships. The research also discusses the psychological and social effects of divorce and proposes support programs to mitigate these negative effects..
19-Dr. Adhrra Salwa Rafo Murtzo	Married women's work and its impact on family disintegration: a social analytical study	This study examines the impact of married women's working lives on family structure and interpersonal relationships. It focuses on how work pressures and the balance of responsibilities between home and work can contribute to increased rates of family disintegration. It also examines the economic and social factors that influence this aspect and proposes solutions to support families..
	Drug Abuse and Its Impact on Youth in Iraqi Society - A Field Study in Baghdad	The study focuses on the phenomenon of drug abuse among young people, analyzing its psychological, social, and economic causes. It also examines the negative effects on individuals, families, and society, and offers recommendations for awareness, treatment, and rehabilitation initiatives aimed at reducing this phenomenon in Iraqi society..
	Virtual communities and their impact on social relations - a field study	The research examines the impact of virtual communities on real social relationships, and how they affect family and social communication..
20-Dr.	The Concept of	The research examines how society perceives time

Haider Ali Hassan Badan	Time as a Collective Representation - An Anthropological Study in the Palestine Street Area	and how time is shaped as a collective representation in daily life, while analyzing the rituals and practices that reflect the understanding of time among the residents of the Palestine Street area..
21-Dr. Abdul Wahab Khazal Abdul Baqi Salman	The sports culture of football fans in Iraq: an anthropological study	The research examines the culture of football fans in Iraq from an anthropological perspective, focusing on fan rituals and practices and their role in expressing identity and social belonging, and the impact of this culture on social and political relations..
	The effectiveness of informal organization in the work of the official industrial institution / An anthropological application of Elton Mayo's theory at the Dora refinery in Baghdad	The research analyzes the effectiveness of informal organization within a formal industrial organization, drawing on Elton Mayo's theory, and shows how informal relationships affect work performance and job commitment in a refinery..
22-Dr. Naglaa Kamel Salem Gharib	The Role of Youth in Developing Climate Action (A Field Study of Al-Mustansiriya University Students))	The research explores the role of youth in supporting and advancing climate action through participation in awareness campaigns and environmental activities. It also demonstrates how youth can be agents of change in society by adopting environmentally friendly practices and contributing to mitigating climate change through volunteer activities and local initiatives..
	The social effects of bullying	The study examines the psychological and social impact of bullying on students, examining its

	among high school students (a field study in Dujail))	causes and consequences, such as poor academic achievement and social isolation. It also discusses mechanisms for combating bullying and promoting a healthy and safe school environment for students..
	Social Dimensions of the Crime Scene (A Field Study in the Criminal Evidence Investigation Directorate))	The research examines the social aspects associated with the crime scene, and the role of the Criminal Evidence Directorate in detecting, investigating, and analyzing crimes..
23-Dr. Sabah Saddam Juwaid Freih	Dubbed TV Series: Their Imported Values and Their Inculcation in the Student Community	The research examines the impact of dubbed series on students' social values, analyzing how foreign values and cultures are transmitted through these series and their impact on young people's behaviors and cultural orientations..
	Conspicuous consumption among university students: an anthropological study at Al-Mustansiriya University	The research focuses on the phenomenon of conspicuous consumption among university students, analyzing the social reasons and motivations behind the tendency to consume goods to demonstrate social status and its impact on cultural identity..
24-Dr. Baniyas Adnan Jaloub Katea	Cognitive skills of university girls in light of the digital transformation	The study examines the cognitive skills university girls need to keep pace with digital transformations, such as critical thinking and the effective use of technology. It also reviews the challenges facing girls in this area and proposes educational programs to enhance these skills and support their academic and professional success..

	The role of the social worker in promoting students' mental health	The study discusses the role of social workers in schools and their impact on students' mental health, through providing psychosocial support and improving the learning environment. It also highlights preventive programs that help reduce behavioral problems and motivate students to excel.social integration
25-D. Karar Nasser Harib corridor	Cosmetics Promotion in Mansour Mall - A Study in Social Anthropology	This study examines the methods of promoting cosmetics at Al-Mansour Mall in Baghdad from a social anthropological perspective, focusing on marketing strategies and their impact on consumers. It also discusses the social and cultural relationships that influence cosmetic choices..
	Social Organization in the Neighborhood Market: A Study in Economic Anthropology	The research analyzes the social organization within the neighborhood market, focusing on the social rules and patterns that govern economic and commercial relations, and the role of the market in promoting social cohesion..
	Fortune-tellers in the Al-Sha'la region: a study in social anthropology	The research examines the role of fortune-tellers in the Al-Sha'la area, focusing on the social functions performed by this group and how their practices affect the local community..
26-Dr. Ruqayyah Suhail Khalil Hussein	Botox in cosmetic culture: an anthropological study in the banking area	This research examines the use of Botox as part of the cosmetic culture in the Banks area, examining the social and psychological motivations behind its spread. It also discusses the impact of this trend on concepts of beauty and identity, and its effects on social interactions..
	Sacrifices and offerings: an anthropological study at the shrine of al-Jawadain	The research examines the rituals related to sacrifices and offerings at the Al-Jawadain shrine, focusing on the cultural and religious symbols surrounding these rituals and their role in strengthening the collective and spiritual identity of the community..

	Hospitality between tradition and modernity: an anthropological study in Sadr City	The research examines hospitality rituals and how they have evolved between tradition and modernity in Sadr City, while analyzing the social and cultural meanings associated with hospitality and its role in strengthening family and community relations..
27-Dr. Sanaa Saleh Abdul Ali Farhan	The Impact of Domestic Violence on Children - An Anthropological Study in New Baghdad	This study examines the impact of domestic violence on children from an anthropological perspective, focusing on the psychological and social dimensions of this phenomenon in New Baghdad. It also reviews the repercussions of violence on children's development and behavior, and proposes mechanisms to support family and community protection..
	The impact of living in cemeteries on the family's functions in the future of its children - an anthropological study in Baghdad - the Karkh cemetery as a model	The research explores the impact of housing in areas surrounding cemeteries on family structure and functioning, and how this environment affects children's futures and their social and psychological development in the Karkh area.
28-Dr. Hoda Karim Mutlaq Saleh	School dropout among middle school students: an anthropological study in the Dora region	The research examines the causes of the school dropout phenomenon in the Dora region, focusing on the social and cultural factors that affect students' continuity in education, and provides recommendations to reduce this phenomenon through supported community interventions..
	The tendency of Iraqi youth to marry Syrian girls - an	The research addresses the phenomenon of marriage between Iraqi young men and Syrian girls, attempting to understand the cultural and social motives behind this trend and its impact on anthropological study	family and societal relations in both Iraq and Syria..

29-Ms. Nagham Saadoun Rahima Hassan	The role of the family in protecting its children from electronic blackmail: a field study in Baghdad.	The study discusses the role of the family in protecting its children from the dangers of cyberbullying, with a focus on the importance of digital awareness and developing children's online skills. It also reviews family communication strategies and the roles of educational institutions in promoting prevention..
	Low-quality content on social media - a field study of a sample of internal security forces in Baghdad	Investigates the spread of inappropriate content on social media and its impact on the behavior and values of members of the Internal Security Forces in Baghdad..
30-M.M. Rafal Imad Ibrahim Alwan	The social effects of bullying among university students: a field study	The study focuses on the phenomenon of bullying among university students and its impact on mental health and social relationships. It analyzes the factors that lead to bullying and examines its consequences, such as isolation, declining academic achievement, and psychological distress. The study proposes intervention programs to raise student awareness and address this phenomenon..
	Fashion between Tradition and Modernity: A Study in Cultural Anthropology	The research examines the relationship between fashion as a cultural phenomenon that combines elements of tradition and modernity, analyzing how social changes influence clothing choices. It also discusses the symbolic role of fashion in expressing identity and cultural belonging among different groups..

	Cultural Changes and Their Relationship to Smoking: An Anthropological Study at Al-Mustansiriya University	The research examines the cultural changes that have affected smoking behavior among Al-Mustansiriya University students, focusing on the social and environmental factors that lead to the spread of smoking. It also discusses possible strategies to reduce this phenomenon within the university environment..
	Magic: An Anthropological Study in the Al-Hurriya Region	The research deals with the phenomenon of magic in the Al-Hurriya region, with an analysis of popular beliefs and practices associated with magic and its impact on the lives of individuals and society, in addition to the role of this phenomenon in social balance..
31-M.M. Susan Salem Dawoud Suleiman	Poverty and Social Problems - A Field Study in the Al-Hussainiya District	The study examines the relationship between poverty and the emergence of social problems such as crime and violence in the Husseinia area. It also reviews the impact of poverty on quality of life, educational opportunities, and health care, and offers recommendations for developing social programs aimed at alleviating poverty and improving the social conditions of the population..
	Cyberbullying among Al-Mustansiriya University students: an anthropological study	This study examines the phenomenon of cyberbullying among university students, analyzing its causes and psychological and social impacts. It also discusses the role of technology in facilitating bullying and proposes strategies to mitigate this problem and promote a healthy learning environment.
	Public Symbols and Signs - An Anthropological Study in the City of Baghdad	The research analyzes the symbols and signs used in daily life in Baghdad, explaining their role in social communication and their impact on people's understanding of the surrounding environment. It also examines how these symbols have evolved over time and their relationship to cultural identity..

	The Culture of Poverty in Sadr City - An Anthropological Study	The research examines the concept of poverty in Sadr City from a cultural and social perspective, studying the impact of poverty on societal values and behaviors and how residents deal with these conditions..
	Urban Growth/An Anthropological Study in the New Baghdad Area	The research examines the phenomenon of urban growth in New Baghdad, analyzing the demographic, social, and economic changes that accompany urban expansion and their impact on the social and cultural structure of the population..
32-M.M. Walid Aliwi Suwadi Sharhan	Socialization and its Impact on Moral Values - A Field Study in Baghdad	It examines how socialization influences the formation of individuals' moral values, with a field study in the city of Baghdad..
	The Impact of Modern Technology on Family Relationships in Urban Communities - A Field Study in Baghdad	The research focuses on how modern technology affects family relationships in Baghdad, examining changes in communication between family members, the positive and negative effects of this technology, and strategies for adapting to these changes in daily life..
	Intergenerational Relations in Traditional Societies: An Anthropological Study of Family	The research explores the relationships between different generations in traditional societies, examining the roles of the family in promoting value and social communication between youth and adults and how to transmit cultural heritage..

	Roles
33-M.M. Nora Mohsen Jassim Khader	Youth Addiction to Social Media - A Field Study	The research addresses the phenomenon of youth addiction to social media, its causes and psychological and social effects, while providing recommendations to reduce it..
	Teacher Culture Between Tradition and Modernity: An Anthropological Study in Al-Atifiyah	The research addresses the changes that have occurred in the teacher's culture between elements of tradition and modernity in the Al-Atifiyah region, with a focus on the challenges facing education and the role of the teacher in the local community..
34-M. Roaa Louay Abdullah Mahmoud	Problems of urbanites adapting to tribal customs in the city: An anthropological study in the Al-Shaab region	The research focuses on the challenges facing urbanites in adapting to tribal customs in urban areas, examining the social and cultural conflicts that arise as a result of urban changes. It also examines how individuals interact with these traditions and the accompanying social pressures..
35-M.M. Ahmed Yasser Matar Jabr	Cultural stereotyping in the age of social media: an anthropological study (TikTok as a model)	The research examines the phenomenon of cultural stereotyping across social media platforms such as TikTok, analyzing how this phenomenon affects cultural identity and social behaviors, and reviewing the challenges facing societies in preserving cultural diversity..
	Time and Speed: An Anthropological Study of the Concept of Time in the Lives of Express Delivery Workers	The research focuses on the perception of time and the concept of speed in the lives of express delivery workers, while studying the impact of this concept on their lifestyle and social relations within society..

36-M.M. Thanaa Abdul Ali Hadi Darab	Cultural symbols of gift exchange on social occasions: an anthropological study	The research explores the cultural symbols and meanings associated with the exchange of gifts on different social occasions, explaining how these rituals reflect the values and social relations in the local community, and analyzing the role of gifts in strengthening family and social ties..
	Folk medicine in the local community: an anthropological study	The research explores the use of traditional medicine in the local community, analyzing traditional beliefs and practices associated with treatment, their role in providing health care, and their integration with modern medicine..
	Cultural and religious determinants of rituals in shaping Christian identity: an anthropological study	The research examines Christian rituals and their impact on shaping the cultural and religious identity of members of society, with a focus on the interaction between religious beliefs and cultural customs in these rituals..