

Old man and the sea is a story of a socially isolated fisherman who is cornered by his fellows for having bad luck in fishing and leaving him with no friends except an apprentice, a boy named Manolin who believes in him.

After facing a dry spell with no absolute catch for 84 days straight, the fisherman sets a sail on the 85th day with the same undying will.

---