

2-The Good Angel and the Evil Angel

Early in the play, the angels each appear on the shoulders of Faustus. One urges him to repent and devote his life to serving God, the other urges him to follow his desires and to serve Lucifer. Each symbolizes the division of will, part of which desires to do good, where the other is covered in sin.