ABSTRACT

This study is concerned with the Qur'anic methods of discussing the bounties of the Hereafter and warning against its punishment (al-TarghÊb and al-TarhÊb). The study is based on analytical and inductive methods. The researcher followed inductive method in collecting the various Qur'anic verses relating to techniques, whereas analytical method was used to discuss and analyse these techniques. The researcher defined the meaning of al-TarghÊb and al-TarhÊb and their importance in education. Moreover, the researcher presented some models and examples from the Qur'anic methodology in addressing individuals and groups.

The study concentrated on studying the various types of bounties and punishments in the Hereafter according to their Qur'anic occurrence. The researcher divided them into two themes: materialistic of type and spiritual one, and mentioned their common characteristics. The researcher initially traced all the Qur'anic verses that discussed the Qur'anic means and divided them into general and specific. The study revealed the importance of the MakkÊ (the Quranic verses that were revealed in Makkah) and MadanÊ (the Quranic verses that were revealed in Madinah) eras and their role in forming the style of targhÊb or tarhÊb regarding the frequency of occurrence, the places where they are mentioned, and the extent of their opposition and correlation. The study concluded with the effect of targhÊb and tarhÊb on the attitude of the believer supported by examples from the life accounts of the pious companions.
